PERFORMANCESTAT:
Strategic tools to optimize public sector performance
 November 5, 2010

THIS PROGRAM IS OPEN TO PUBLIC AND NONPROFIT LEADERS INTERESTED IN STRATEGY AND PUBLIC VALUE.

Fiscal crisis in the public and nonprofit sectors often leads to cuts in service and concerns with the public's confidence in our government and nonprofit agencies. The issues of today require a new kind of leadership. To ensure future success we must reexamine our problem solving tools. With a focus on strategic performance measurement in the public sector, this one-day program will allow you to step back and reassess how your organization or unit uses data to identify cost savings, improve performance and drive strategy.

Presenters will share their use of a PerformanceStat model in their creation of the highly successful TransitStat at the Greater Cleveland Regional Transit Authority.
